

First name: Patrick
Last name: Harland-Lee

Q1: new framework. games made under ma15+ rating are too violent for 15 year olds. Change what is allowed under ma15+, and push the violent games into r18 rating for adults.

Q2: reach a position where everyone understands what content will fall under which category and why, considering the opinions of the entire nation.

Q3: No, it should be overarching across all platforms.

Q4: No, but there should be a detailed and justified explanation as to why it was classified the way it was.

Q5: no, everything should be classified and rated.

Q6: no.

Q7: if it is justified, yes.

Q8: yes, in fact it should take into account whether race, gender or other cultures are discussed/referenced.

Q9: no.

Q10: no.

Q11:

Q12: captcha, passwords

Q13: difficult-to-answer questions

Q14: blank cover protectors with just the name of the magazine, like cigarettes

Q15: whenever it is not suitable for children under 8-10 years old

Q16:

Q17:

Q18: nudity, sexual references, gore, inappropriate conduct (shitting on Debra's desk etc)

Q19: if the cost is minimised, all media should be classified if not suitable for children

Q20: No, the difference between G and PG, and between M and MA15+ and prospective R18+

Q21: M should be removed, and MA be made more restrictive

Q22: same symbols, keywords, etc

Q23:

Q24: child pornography & extreme gore

Q25: Stupid question. RC is category that has no limits, therefore, games at the lower end of the RC spectrum would be suitable, but content at the higher end, definately.

Q26: yes

Q27:

Q28:

Q29:

Other comments: