

CI 136 S Khale

First name: Shasheen

Last name: Khale

Q1:

Developing a new framework.

Q2:

To have a fair classification system that includes a R18+ or similar rating to accommodate a wider range of media being available only to those of appropriate age.

Q3:

No it shouldn't because media already has content that can be inappropriate to certain ages and the platform used to access this content should have no effect on how the content is rated.

Q4:

Yes

Q5:

No the content should be judged on its own merits and not on the impact it will have when released whether the content is poorly or well received it should still be classified as what it is. And yes content designed for children should be classified across all mediums

Q6:

No

Q7:

No

Q8:

No

Q9:

No

Q10:

No

Q11:

Q12:

Setting up blocks on one's own personal browser to block incoming content of certain kinds that the user can choose

Q13:

Monitored by their parents and using child safe locks on internet where certain sites are automatically blocked

Q14:

ID checks and more inconspicuous packaging

Q15:

when the content is inappropriate for a child

Q16:

governments agencies should set up a fair way of classifying content, industry bodies should uphold the classificationns and the users should buy only the content appropriate for their age according to the classifications.

Q17:

Q18:

Q19:

Q20:

Q21:

A R18+ rating, M and MA15+ can be merged if a working R18+ rating is released

Q22:

Q23:

Q24:

Q25:

Q26:

Q27:

Q28:

Q29:

Other comments: