Last name: Wilson

Q1:

In this inquiry, the ALRC should focus on developing a new framework for classification.

Q2:

The primary objectives of a national classification scheme should be to treat Australian adults like Australian adults and Australian children like Australian children. Currently our scheme treats adults like children by outright BANNING games that are classified for adults in other countries OR treating children like adults by allowing games that are classified for adults to be classified for teenagers.

Q3:

The technology or platform used to access content should not affect whether content should be classified. All content, be it books, movies, music, video games, etc., should be classified the same way as they are all artistic mediums. Why should a movie showing graphic violence be classified but a video game doing the same be banned?

Q4:

No, all content should be classified before it is able to be sold.

Q5:
