First name: Euan

Last name: McDonald

Q1:

As long as it improves classification and makes it stronger and consistent.

Q2:

Protect children from unsuitable material

Enable parents to know what classifications are easily

Prevent distribution of material that is not acceptable to community standards or violates people in the community, or otherwise harmful.

Q3:

Q4:

No, I think there needs to be some form of regulation but also action depending on complaints as well.

Q5:

Unsure of what is meant here, but children need to a primary group that needs protection from harmful content.

Q6:

I think so, although if something is unsuitable, it should not matter.

Q7:

Yes, especially if it is sexualising, harmful or exploitive.

Q8:

Yes. A lot of music does demean women by treating them as sexual objects.

Q9:

No.

Q10:

How can it be controlled in a home? Under certain conditions it might seem okay, but what if there are children or young people who can access this content in their homes? There are news items stating how young children are partaking in sexual acts.

Q11:

Q12:

Mandatory filtering of internet content at the ISP level is a good way to exclude all material that would be classified RC, X18+ or R18+. Opt-in access to R18+ could be provided if there is age verification.

Q13:

Develop education and have strong mandatory filtering

Q14:

All (R) classifications should not be able to be accessed where children are allowed.

Q15:

Always.

Q16:

I think governments should take a wholistic view but also not weaken regulations.

Q17:

Unsure. I think self regulation often fails when it comes to making money.

Q18:

Where does one draw the line here?

Q19:

Q20:

The existing classification categories should remain, apart from the X18+ category for films which should be abolished. Films containing explicit depictions of sexual acts should be refused Classification. Such films exploit and demean women. They have been implicated in the sexual abuse and premature sexualisation of children.

- No R18+ classification should be introduced for computer games

Q21:

Q22:

Q23:

Q24:

Access to all material that would be classified RC, X18+ or R18+ should be prohibited to the general user. Opt-in access to R18+ could be provided, subject to strict age verification procedures.

Q25:

Q26:

I think there needs to be consistency so that one state or territory has no or different classifications that can be accessed by others or even minors.
