

CI 1689 L Johnson

First name: Luke

Last name: Johnson

Q1:

Q2:

Allow the public to clearly identify every media-item's classification and make sure that there is a legal category for each and every media release, consistent across all media forms.

Q3:

No.

Q4:

No.

Q5:

All purchasable media should be assigned a relevant and accurate classification, allowing it to be released for public consumption.

Q6:

Possibly, if a media release is obtained through a registered commercial outlet, it should be classified.

Q7:

Yes.

Q8:

Yes.

Q9:

No.

Q10:

No.

Q11:

Q12:

People making their own independent decisions, based on appropriate classification. (Education)

Q13:

Better parenting and education.

Q14:

Classification, parenting, education.

Q15:

Every media item should display any classification and warnings.

Q16:

Developing a robust and appropriate classification system, and assign applicable classifications to all media items.

Q17:

Possibly. As long as there are regular checks and the government can overturn industry set classifications.

Q18:

Q19:

Q20:

I think the classifications assigned to moving picture releases seem clear and could provide a good model for interactive and gaming media.

Q21:

Possibly not for video, however more classification scope is required for interactive media and games. There should be classifications available for ALL releases.

Q22:

Have the same categories for all formats.

Q23:

I would think so.

Q24:

None

Q25:

Q26:

Yes

Q27:

Q28:

Yes

Q29:

Other comments: