

CI 1835 B Clouten

First name: Brent

Last name: Clouten

Q1:

Developing a new framework, complete overhaul

Q2:

to have one standard classification which covers the whole media spectrum

Q3:

no, Technology is just a tool to gain access, all art has the potential to be classified.

Q4:

no, all media or art should have a classification, and it should not be a reflection of taste.

Q5:

yes

Q6:

no, it should be a even classification process

Q7:

yes

Q8:

all art should have some sort of rating system

Q9:

no, it should be a even classification process

Q10:

no, it should be a even classification process

Q11:

all art should have some sort of rating system

Q12:

Credit card checks

Q13:

thats up to the childrens parents not the government to enforce

Q14:

I believe mags and videos are better controlled because of the R18, XXX ratings

Q15:

any sold product should have a rating

Q16:

simply put it into right category, G, PG, M, M15, R18, XXX

Q17:

Yes

Q18:

All art that is sold

Q19:

No

Q20:

The current categories are fine, it is disappointing all other media has the full range of categories to be classified by and the gaming market has a special set of rules. (It's crazy)

Q21:

The current classification categories are fine, they just need to be used for all sold art.

Q22:

Use the current criteria and guidelines just give games the full range of categories.

Q23:

Yes

Q24:

Child pornography,

Q25:

No

Q26:

Yes it is important, and all laws should be the same across the whole country.

Q27:

the States and Territory's Media Act Of 2011 should be introduced

Q28:

Yes

Q29:

one rating system for all media / art content

Other comments:

The current categories are fine, it is disappointing all other media has the full range of categories to be classified by and the gaming market has a special set of rules. (It's crazy)

one rating system for all media / art content