

CI 1837 P Brennan

First name: Paul

Last name: Brennan

Q1:

New Framework. There is too many minority groups telling me what i can and cant play in terms of games. I'm an adult and believe that I should be able to choose what is in my interests to play. There is obvious material that I wouldnt consider playing due to a moral stand point involving child sex, animal beastiality, excessive pornography or sex crimes.

Q2:

To have a consistent approach in the classification of all entertainment material including film, written and games. This approach should be consistent with other similar countries and considered mainstream.

Q3:

As long as the approach is consistent for classifying the material, the platform should be irrelevant.

Q4:

No. Too many minority groups will abuse the process by lodging complaints to reclassify content. Any complaints should be investigated accordingly the same as with any commercial product.

Q5:

Content for children and adults should be classified across all media. Potential impact is not a defined science and it would be difficult to have a consistent approach.

Q6:

Size or market position is irrelevant in the classification of material. Any content has the potential to reach a mass market, the classification should dictate what audience will be able to access the content.

Q7:

Yes

Q8:

Yes

Q9:

Q10:

No

Q11:

mainstream legal rulings on acceptable values such as pornography

Q12:

tax file number or social security number

Q13:

parental activation code

Q14:

random inspections, office of fair trading, or in the same way cigarettes are monitored.

Q15:

all content should have suitable markings, warnings. consistency

Q16:

regular inspection and monitoring of retailers and online stores. Guidelines on best practice.

Q17:

yes

Q18:

print media

Q19:

No circumstances

Q20:

MA15 and R rating are not well understood.

Q21:

Q22:

a clear understand of each criteria of what it means and why the material fits into the guidelines.

Q23:

yes

Q24:

Child porn, animal sex, excessive torture.

Q25:

No, its not consistent

Q26:

Yes at a federal level. Too many state governments are influenced by minority groups, agendas etc.

Q27:

NA

Q28:

Yes

Q29:

Consistent regulation and monitoring

Other comments: