Q1:

new framework as we are missing a classification for the R18 for games

Q2:

no internet filter and a R18 rating for games

Q3:

No it breaches peoples rights to privacy

Q4:

No because what one person might find offence another might not

Q5:

it should be classified as it is for example a game made for adults should be rated as R18 while one for kids G/PG depending on the content

Q6:

No why would size effect that

Q7:

No

Q8:

No

Q9:

No

Q10:

No

Q11:

Only the content should be considered for the games classification if it is going to offend a group of people then clearly it is not for them

Q12:

leaving untouched as it is just going to promote hackers to destroy the system

Q13:

By the Parents getting off there assess and making sure there kids dont good porn

Q14:

its fine as it is you have to show proof of age to get such things

Q15:

when that content is not for children eg fighting/adult content/drugs

Q16:

the government should not tell us what we can and cannot play and needs to learn that alot of gamers are past the age of 18 myself included

Q17:

not sure about this question

Q18:

fighting/light cursing = M adult content = R18

Q19:

should be fixed to follow the rest of the whole

Q20:

the lack of a R18 for games is causing confusion in all mature gamers

Q21:

R18 for games for adult content (fighting/swearing that kind of thing)

Q22:

people need to understand that it's just a game

Q23:

No something new that gives us a R18 rating for games

Q24:

Child porn but it is a lost cause like drugs and things along the lines of it will always be there no matter how hard you try to stop it

Q25:

no we should be free to look up what we want unless it is illegal and even then you shouldn't put a filter in place as it will just slow down our already slow internet

Q26:

people need more power for our choices

Q27:

power to the people we get a say on what laws get passed

Q28:

yes

Q29:

Adding a R18 for games and a understanding that violent games do not make violent people

Other comments:

As a gamer i am sick of having my games censored or banned altogether as it makes me buy them online where the money doesn't go to an Australian store
