

CI 2275 S Lorian

First name: Sam

Last name: Lorian

Q1:

Keep it how it is, just add an R rating for games which may contain more blood/gore which is not suitable for younger gamers.

Q2:

Adding an R rating classification to the gaming community.

Q3:

No.

Q4:

That depends on the content of the games. Sexually explicit games should be banned in my opinion.(games that have sex,rape,or other perversions)

Q5:

Q6:

Q7:

Depends, if it contains underage minors then it should be an offense.

Q8:

NO.

Q9:

NO.

Q10:

R rated gameplay shouldnt be shown on TV/gaming stores/etc. The internet is bad enough.

Q11:

Q12:

Slapping parents should be the start, they are responsible for what their children access.

Q13:

Its the parents responsibility not the governments.

Q14:

Q15:

Q16:

Q17:

Q18:

Q19:

Q20:

Q21:

Refused classification games should be given the R rating, as they have been given in other countries.

Q22:

Q23:

Q24:

child porn.

Q25:

Q26:

It should be the same across all states, if not then whats the pupose of me doing this.

Q27:

Q28:

Q29:

Other comments:

Even if it doesnt go through 1000s of australians every year will just import banned games anyway.

The average age of gamers is going up, im a 27yr old male who shouldnt have to play games that a bunch of old stiffs sitting in a boardroom wearing suits telling me what i can and not play in my home.

We trully are becoming a nanny state.