

CI 435 T Larkin

First name: Timothy

Last name: Larkin

Q1:

New framework that allows for an R18+ for adult gamers

Q2:

An R18+ for adult gamers

Q3:

No the content should be standardised across all platforms

Q4:

No like movie's there are some titles (or Games ) that should be age restricted

Q5:

The content of games needs to be classified the same as all other age classified media

Q6:

All games need to be classified whether it is a small indie production or a large scale developer

Q7:

Yes the promo's should show that classification for the upcoming release

Q8:

yes like everything else audio still contains age related content

Q9:

nope

Q10:

nope

Q11:

Q12:

ID Verification for adult content like gambling sites have

Q13:

better ID verification

Q14:

stuffed if I know

Q15:

When they are MA+ or R18+

Q16:

Give content the right classification so us adults are available to purchase games etc that are meant for adults and not just refusing a classification and denying us the games that we want.

Q17:

yes industries know what audiences they are creating a product for and they will classify them accordingly

Q18:

children's titles

Q19:

nope

Q20:

none that im aware of

Q21:

There needs to be an R18+ classification for video games instead of games being refused classification. Im an adult and I work hard to earn money and I enjoy playing games in my spare time. Now there are alot of games that I want to play but am penalised as certain titles that are not suitable for children to play are refused classification

Q22:

make the gaming, movie and audio classifications the same across the board

Q23:

yes if they are the same it means more of the games that I as an adult want to play will get an R18+ classification and not be refused classification in Australia

Q24:

Any type of animal or kiddie porn and related materials.

Q25:

no

Q26:

yes there should be one classification nation wide

Q27:

Isn't this your job to figure this out

Q28:

As long as it gives an R18+ classification for video games im easy

Q29:

R18+ classification for video games

Other comments:

Did I mention that I really support an R18+ classification for video games? Adult gamers such as myself should be able to purchase video games that are not suitable for younger audiences. At the end of the day if a game is filled with graphic violence and other related adult content only adult should have access to these products. If someone is going to be offended by this type of material then they won't be purchasing it. But for those of us who do then we should be able to have that option as an adult to make decisions as to what tyoe of conctect that we want.