

CI 474 D Hindle

First name: Dallas

Last name: Hindle

Q1:

I think the ALRC should focus on develop a new framework that will support current media and be flexible enough to allow new and emerging technologies, media and content to be covered.

Q2:

to make people aware of the level and type of content they are consuming.

Q3:

No, the technology or platform should not affect the classification of the content.

Q4:

Yes, it is not viable for body to classify every piece of content australian's have access to, there should be a process for complaints to be heard and to review the content, however. it should be as easy to object to a complaint as it is to make a complaint.

Q5:

Yes, if a company or group is producing media or content for children, they should request it be classified or abide by the childrens classification requirements.

Q6:

Yes, large scale distrobutions should be classified such as movies, games, tv shows, news, radio, etc, etc.

Q7:

Yes

Q8:

Yes

Q9:

Yes

Q10:

Yes

Q11:

Q12:

Parental supervision, or school supervision or business restrictions.

Q13:

Parental supervision, or school supervision, the government is not the baby sitter for parents in the other room

Q14:

Parental supervision, or school supervision, the government is not the baby sitter for parents in the other room

Q15:

Yes

Q16:

Advice and classification, not restriction unless it breaks the law

Q17:

possibly

Q18:

Q19:

The government should provide clear guidelines to allow small independent films to self classify.

Q20:

RC is not appropriate and causes confusions as to why.

Q21:

Yes, Computer games should have Adult and restricted categories.

Q22:

Q23:

Q24:

Content that breaks Australian law such as child pornography.

Q25:

No

Q26:

Yes, we are a member of a global community, we should act as a unified nation, not as states or territories

Q27:

Q28:

Q29:

Other comments: