First name: Reece

Last name: Jones

Q1:

There is nothing wrong with the current classification scheme with the exception of the lack of an R18 rating. MA15+ just needs to be altered slightly to better compliment the R18 rating once it is implemented so that the system is fair for ALL ages.

Q2:

Getting R18 implemented.

Q3:

No, assuming a physical and virtual copy's contents are no different from one another.

Q4:

No.

Q5:

No.

Q6:

No.

Q7:

No.

Q8:

Definitely not, the amount of music (let alone music videos) and the many different styles would make classification a nightmare.

People probably won't pay attention to it anyway, I sure won't. I have genres I like and it's as simple as that, there is no need to complicate things and slow releases down.

Q9:

If something is aimed towards an adult audience then make sure they get it, they can make their own decisions on what to do with it.

Q10:

No.

Q12:

You can't "control" how someone access's content on the net, don't even try... A filter will NOT work for the purpose of blocking Child Porn or any other stuff of a similar nature, it will just get bypassed.

Q13:

Parental supervision perhaps? It's not my job to look after one of my mates kids and it sure as shit is not the Governments either.

Q14:

Refer Q13.

Q15:

If the content meets or exceeds the requirements for M for mature rating.

Q16:

As it is now. Government agencies rate content, industry bodies make content and users (bitch about it if it's crap) use content.

Q17:

Depends how it would be organised. Some sort of central body would seemingly be necessary to avoid different industry groups rating content in a different manner to their competitors.

Q18:

Anything at or below the M for mature rating.

Q20:

I'd say they are all pretty easy to understand. However the gaming classification system may cause confusion as it misleads people into assuming some MA15+ games, which are definately not intended, developed or marketed towards 15-17 year olds, but rather the adult gaming community, are ok to be played by their 14 year old.

Q21:

An R18 classification category is necessary for the gaming community, just hurry up and get it done.

Q22:

Not my forte

Q23:

Yes

Q24:

NONE!

Q25:

The current scope is too broad.

Q26:

Q28:

NO-ONE wants a filter.

Other comments:

The Filter can get [redacted], hurry up with the NBN before the dumbass liberals who haven't got a clue try to wreck it or turn it into a half arsed shamble and... GIVE US OUR R18 RATING ALREADY!
