First name: Adam

Last name: Sincock

Q1:

Develop a new framework

Q2:

To correctly classify all media with a classification system that mirrors what is used by the rest of the world. In other words we need a system that has an R rating for all media alike that is understandable by everyone.

Q3:

No of course not.

Q4:

That would save the classification board a heap of time but I think it may mean media will not be classified properly once again.

Q5:

It is not your role to monitor potential impact, your role is to classify a type of media as per classification guidelines that is all.

Q6:

No that just opens the classification process up to bribery and corruption.

Q7:

There is no reason to classify art at all.

Q8:

Yes

Q9:

No

Q10:

No that is ridiculous, what is the difference it is still being consumed by someone.

Q11:

Just classify all media using the same classification system that we all understand G, PG, M, MA, R, X simple.

Q12:

Don't even bother trying, online is too much of a waste of time to try and control what is being accessed.

Q13:

By parents actually parenting their children. Parents should provide education to their kids as that is their job. Parents all have access to tools to filter their own internet connections and childrens access to the net should be done in an open area within the home not in their bedroom.

Q14:

It is fine as is.

Q15:

At all times it is required.

Q16:

Monitoring and maintaining correct and consistent classification across all media platforms.

Q17:

Yes I believe so.

Q18:

All content if they are responsible for publishing it then it is there neck on the line if they make an error.

Q19:

Yes

Q20:

MA and R are very similar. I assume MA is just a made up one that you brought about to not have to make an R rating available for games, which makes no logical sense.

Q21:

G, PG, M, R and X are all fine and simple to understand. M and MA need to merge or MA and R if that is what it is supposed to be closer to?

Q22:

Just use the same ratings across all media using the same classification system, very simple.

Q23:

Definitely yes.

Q24:

Child porn, rape porn, bestiality porn, snuff films, I'd suggest religious dogma also but sometimes it is quite funny to laugh at.

Q25:

I assume so, what is currently RC does anyone really know?

Q26:

Not necessarily, otherwise we wouldn't be able to get any X rated stuff from Canberra.

Q27:

Q28:

The Commonwealth is too easily pushed around by religious groups and the media so no. We would end up with more restrictive and draconian laws than we already have.

Q29:

Adults should be allowed to chose to use R or X rated content as they wish. we are adults afterall...
