an R18+ rating for video games.

Other comments:

Ratings are there to clarify what falls in to what category. It's only logical to have an R18+ rating for video games. Proof of Identification should be asked when purchasing an R18+ video game. If the consumer is under 18, obviously don't allow them to buy it. If they are over 18, then they have every right to buy, play and enjoy it. The fact is we don't even get this right because the R18+ rating for video games is non existent when it definitely should be.
