

As a concerned grandparent I am writing to request that the Law should continue to allow faith-based schools to employ teachers and other staff who adhere to their same faith-based ideals. Parents choose to send their children to these schools and often sacrifice to pay the additional fees required. They need to be assured their children are educated to the standards they choose.