

< Notes

Hi there,

My name is Arif Amarkhail,

Originally from Afghanistan, lived in the US and currently living in Melbourne Australia since 2009

I love Melbourne

The people, the live, are a lot better than US etc..

You can have a decent family time

Weekly and on the weekends, but there are something called freedom

Freedom of religion that we need to raise our voice

As a Muslim, our freedom of religion is as important as any other member of the public in Australia.

It's our right to practice our culture, language and religion. Government has a responsibility to make sure the rights protected,

Please note: government funded private schools with less funds compared to public schools,

Majority of the funds coming from the parents.

We have the rights for us to choose and uphold our religion ethos instead of forcing us to abide.

With the new law it's a discrimination against those with religious beliefs and forcing us to comply.

I thank you for your time and we really appreciate that you have a look to the new law and consider the needs of communities living in Australia

Kind regards

Arif A.
