Good morning

We oppose the introduction of an impact-based assessment model under the Native Title Act, as proposed in Question 14 of the discussion paper.

We operate a pastoral lease in the Northern Territory. The proposed changes would significantly impact routine activities like clearing for pasture improvement, currently covered by a notice and comment process. This would introduce huge delays and uncertainty and does not reflect the scale or context of pastoral operations in northern Australia.

The existing legislation already provides sufficient oversight and protections.

I support the Northern Territory Cattlemen's Association's submission and urge the Australian Law Reform Commission to reject this proposed model.
