

There is no way you can make surrogacy legal without stripping the human rights of the children.

One is simply left with a choice between choosing to satisfy the hedonistic whims of adults at the expense of children's rights and safety, or protect children from being exploited and enslaved in a commodity market.

Making a commodity of children is the equivalent of slavery - buying and selling children to satisfy the desire of owning children through illegitimate means.

Children's rights should have EQUAL consideration in every law passed.

A child's identity is found nowhere else other than its biological parents. When you strip their model of identity away from them (biological parent), they become unstable, insecure and lost.

No one cares for child more that its mother and father. The same level of love, commitment, sacrifice and willingness to lay down their life for the child will not be preset in a non-biological parent. The bond of chemicals and DNA is simply not equal.

There are not checks and balances in this Bill.

The handful of legitimate couples seeking surrogacy opens the door to all manner of monsters using surrogacy for vice

It is stench to the underpinning of morality and all virtues in society.
