Children and babies are not commodities to be bought and sold under any excuse or circumstance. It is horrific, and it is shameful that we are even having this discussion.

While not-for-profit altruistic surrogacy (mostly familial) might be justified in rare cases, for-profit commercial surrogacy can never be justified.

Such commercial motives and practices open the door wide for many kinds of abuses, personal tragedies and social chaos, all of which are well defined and known to the ALRC.

A range of lobbies stand to make quick, easy dollars from the increasing numbers of childless couples, and the ALRC should have nothing to do with such amoral profiteering and the disingenuous excuses invented by these parasites.

Best regards
