To Whom It May Concern,

As a concerned grandparent and advocate for human rights, I am writing to urge the ALRC to oppose the legalisation of surrogacy in Australia. It is imperative that the interests of all children and the rights of women to be protected from sexual and reproductive abuse are upheld (Question 2). Australia should prohibit all forms of surrogacy, especially commercial surrogacy (Question 3), to prevent the commodification of women and children. International and commercial surrogacy must remain illegal to safeguard the rights of the child and birth mother (Questions 16, 17, 21) and to ensure a child's right to know their biological parent is protected. Surrogacy advertising should be prohibited to prevent exploitation (Question 13).

Sincerely,
Ronda Roy
